

Cathy Barbash of Barbash Arts Consulting Services opens the China Town Hall event with a discussion titled, "From One to Many: The Evolution of U.S.-China Cultural Exchanges from Single to Multi-Stream Practice." Barbash is a specialist in the performing arts, cultural policy and creative industry development in the People's Republic of China and gave the audience a history of the relationship between China and the United States with regards to culture and the arts.

Jeffrey Chan, Assistant Director of the Institute for Chinese Studies, Cathy Barbash of Barbash Arts Consulting Services, and Patricia Sieber Associate Professor at The Department of East Asian Languages and Literatures, get together after a successful event. This town hall was co-sponsored by the East Asian Studies Center and the Mershon Center for International Security Studies.

Jeffrey Chan, Assistant Director of the Institute for Chinese Studies, prepares the audience for the live webcast featuring Jon M. Huntsman Jr., the U.S. Ambassador to China. China Town Hall: Local Connections, National Reflections, is a national day of programming designed to provide Americans across the United States and beyond the opportunity to discuss issues between the United States and China with leading experts.

Patricia Sieber, Associate Professor of The Department of East Asian Languages and Literatures, gives an introduction for the China Town Hall: Local Connections, National Reflections event featuring guest speaker, Cathy Barbash of Barbash Arts Consulting Services. This event was held at the Mershon Center for International Security Studies on October 18th, 2010.